BREAST HEALTH from Page 16

Q: What are the determinants you consider when suggesting one over the other?

A: We typically recommend that women who are candidates for lumpectomy undergo the procedure instead of mastectomy given the survival is the same and the procedure itself is much better tolerated. It is important to note that there are studies looking at quality of life after these 2 surgeries and that it is almost always better (quality of life after surgery is almost always higher) for patients who are able to preserve their breast.

Q: Depending upon the procedure I choose, will I need additional treatment?

A: One of the main downsides of lumpectomy is that often, radiation is recommended which will help decrease the chance of the cancer coming back in the breast. This is one of the reasons why many women elect to remove the breast entirely.

Q: Will I need to have chemotherapy or hormonal therapy?

A: The decision for chemotherapy or hormone therapy is not often related to which surgery you pick and more related to which type of cancer, and how aggressive that type is. The lymph nodes are often sampled during these procedures to understand if the cancer has spread and this will often influence these additional treatment recommendations as well.

For more information on breast cancer surgery at Baystate Health visit: <https://www.baystatehealth.org/services/cancer/treatment/surgery/breast-surgery>.
