BARRE – The 2025 Fall Bazaar took place this past Saturday at Quabbin Regional High School.

The Fall Bazaar is a day of fun activities and fundraising to support the senior class. Students of the Class of 2025 put in a lot of hard work and effort to put this fun fall bazaar together to help raise funds for their class activities.

Senior Advisor to the Class of 2025, Davey Ljungberg can only describe the Fall Bazaar as “an event brought back to life.”

He said this senior class fundraiser brings back a fun tradition for the students of Quabbin Regional High School. It is also a fun community event that connects the school community with the town community.

“A little community event to raise money for the senior class,” Ljungberg said.

Ljungberg’s co-advisor is Chris Nosek who is also a big supporter of the Fall Bazaar. Nosek teaches middle school math and Ljungberg teaches computer science.

This was the second year that the school has hosted a Fall Bazaar to support the senior class since bringing it back. Prior to the pandemic, the Fall Bazaar was a fun, annual event that gave seniors the opportunity to provide fun activities and reach out to the community for support.

Barre Fire Department brought a fire truck and ambulance for a touch a truck event for the families who visited during the Fall Bazaar. Additional funds came from raffles, the concession stand in operation and a spot to buy some Quabbin High School Panthers merchandise.

Many volunteers consisted of juniors, seniors and parents who helped with running the snack shack, raffles and games. The Fall Bazaar also welcomed a face painter for kids. Fun activities for kids also included arts and crafts, pumpkin painting and many fun outdoor games.

The Fall Bazaar featured several Halloween themed games, including a unique game called Zombie Eye Toss. There was also tic-tac-toe, cornhole, ring toss and corn stock smash.

One game that got seniors involved was called Senior Shootout. Kids could attempt to score a soccer goal against a senior who played as the goalkeep-er. Occasionally, the seniors and guests would play a round of soccer with a big inflatable soccer ball.

The hamburgers and hotdogs cooked at the snack shack were provided by Wholesome Farmers Market Inc. in Barre. Merchandise came from the school store.

For the month of October, hosting the Fall Bazaar is a great way to help set up the rest of the school year as class funds accumulate. According to Ljungberg, “the students have been really motivated.”

The students of the Class of 2025 have partaken in many leadership rolls, community outreach and communication. Thanks to the Fall Bazaar fundraiser, the class was able to enjoy a class trip to New York City.

“Having these trips build experience and help us come together as a class,” says class president Luke Salvatore. Other class representatives who were in attendance during the Fall Bazaar were Vice President Ruby Gatulis, Secretary Irene Stogitis and Treasurer Ellie Frost.

All class leaders view the Fall Bazaar as a “feel good fundraiser” as they learn to connect with the community they’re a part of. The students feel they have learned a lot and developed several essential skills that will help them in their future endeavors and careers.

Gatulis hopes this fundraiser continues at their school after they graduate.

“We hope the classes below us continue it on,” Gatulis said.

The class gets involved in numerous activities throughout the school year and enjoy being with each other and working as a team. Many seniors had the pleasure of going out to the public and looking for support to make this thriving fundraiser possible.

The seniors would gather and hold up a banner showcasing their Fall Bazaar’s supporting sponsors and contributors.

Sponsors included Old Furnace General Store, E.P. Wine Propane, Brookside Equipment Sales, Healy Brothers Insurance Agency, Inc., White Valley Motors, Salvatore Trucking and many more. The Class of 2025 appreciates all the community support for help making the Fall Bazaar a successful fundraiser that will carry on for years to come.
